

A Hippo Roller is an easy way to bring water to a certain person or place. It is a large barrel that can hold 90 liters of water, while most buckets used in Africa only hold 20 liters. It has a handle at the back so people can push or pull it long distances. There is a red or orange circle on the side of this barrel. This circle is the lid, and where people place or draw the water from. It is made of UV safe plastic. It is designed to go over rough surfaces.